PUBLIC HEARING - Chapter 49 Zoning Public Hearing

City Manager, A.J. Krieger explained the Chapter 49 Zoning Public Hearing is conducted as part of the process to amend the City's Zoning Ordinance. Council's approval of a zoning ordinance amendment does not necessarily permit any use and/or change the current classification in any area. In this case it is simply recognizing Group Quarters as a permitted use in the R1-B District through the Special Use Permit process.

Council will be asked to have a first reading of Bills 6672 and 6673 which will amend the Chapter 49 Zoning Ordinance to recognize Group Quarters.

Al Henneboehle – 2000 Equitable Bldg. 10 S. Broadway, St. Louis, MO 63102 – Mr. Henneboehle is the Attorney for the Sisters of St. Joseph of Carondelet who are behind the efforts to amend the zoning code and to amend the definition of Group Quarters which came about when the Sisters signed a contract to purchase approximately 7 acres of property at 1470 Alicia Avenue which is currently zoned R1-B. The intended use for the property is to have between 3 to 5 Sisters reside there to engage in farming, gardening and provide educational group seminars i.e. gardening, spiritual discussions and teachings. This type of use is not permitted under the current zoning classification for the property. Group Homes are currently permitted in the zoning classification but Group Quarters are not. Discussion ensued regarding intended uses.

Attorney Bresnahan explained the definition of Group Quarters versus Group Homes. A Group Home is mandated by State Statutes that no City can restrict Group Homes from any zoning district. Group Homes are homes that are designed for eight or fewer unrelated mentally or physically handicapped persons, which is mandated by the State. The City does have the authority to regulate Group Quarters within different zoning classifications through the Special Use Permit process.

Attorney Bresnahan explained that the educational portion, if it falls within a religious mission, would probably be permitted, if it is a commercial venture, it would probably not be permitted. The raising or selling of vegetables does not fall within the Home Occupation definition because it would be outside of the dwelling unit and would not be permitted. If it is merely religious instruction the City could limit the number of persons attending seminars due to the size of the parking facilities adjacent to the premises, and would probably be permissible if it was part of the religious mission of the Sisters. Discussion ensued regarding the definition uses, zoning and Special Use Permit process.

John McDonald, 1308 Alicia – had concerns and comments regarding the Special Use Permit, traffic, street improvements, parking facilities and zoning changes.

A.J. Krieger, City Manager, explained that at this time all that is being discussed is amending the text of the zoning ordinance to recognize it as a permitted use through the Special Use Permit process within the R1-B classification. Council is not considering a petition at this time, but merely considering a text amendment to the zoning ordinance. Discussion ensued.

David Olsen – (on behalf of the Stallones) - Mr. Olsen explained that the Stallones have entered into a real estate contract to sell 7 acres of property, including the residential home, which is reason to make the ordinance change. The Stallones are asking Council to consider the ordinance change in order to follow through with the real estate contract.

Ed Meixner – 1444 Alicia – had concerns and comments on changing the zoning as stated in the letter received from the City. Mr. Meixner was informed that the residents that would be affected by the change had not been notified. Mr. Meixner had concerns regarding street traffic, notification and Group Quarters relating to disabled persons.

A.J. Krieger stated it is Group Homes that relates to unrelated disabled persons. Attorney Bresnahan explained Group Homes are already a permitted use in all of the residential districts. Mr. Krieger explained that any notification that was sent by City staff was sent in error. The City does not have a specific notification requirement for an amendment to the zoning ordinance; it was just publicized to give notice that the City was conducting a Public Hearing.

A.J. explained that Council is only being asked to consider a text amendment to the zoning ordinance document, which would permit by the Special Use Permit process Group Quarters within the R1-B classification. Discussion ensued regarding notification.

Tina Stallone Schulte – 1480 Alicia – had comments regarding this amendment putting this part of the City in line with the remainder of the City. Mr. Krieger explained that R1-B is the only residential classification that does not include Group Quarters as a permitted use. Discussion ensued. Mr. Krieger confirmed that this amendment makes R1-B consistent with the other residential classifications. R1-B is a single family designation.

Ed Meixner – 1444 - Alicia had comments regarding the letter stating rezoning and notification. Mr. Krieger again stated the notice was in error and the Public Hearing is being held to discuss the text amendment to the zoning ordinance.

John McDonald – 1308 Alicia – had comments regarding this amendment change because of property being sold to a religious group. Discussion ensued. Mayor Wegert explained that the City Manager stated that the intended purpose of the change was to bring all of the residential classifications into consistent compliance.

Mayor Wegert asked for additional public comments and/or questions. There being no further comments, the Chapter 49 Zoning Public Hearing concluded at 8:35 p.m.

PUBLIC HEARING - Enterprise Zone Public Hearing

City Manager, A.J. Krieger explained that in October City Staff recommended the City participate in the North St. Louis County Enterprise Zone and that a default abatement policy be established. As required by Statute, a Public Hearing must be conducted. Ford Hazelwood Task Force Project Director, Patrick McKeehan was present to explain the Resolution and to answer questions or comments regarding the Resolution. Discussion ensued. Council thanked Mr. McKeehan.

Mayor Wegert asked for additional public comments and/or questions. There being no further comments, the Enterprise Zone Public Hearing concluded at 8:45 p.m.
